CUSTER COUNTY

ART CENTER

The Custer County Art Center, established in 1977, is located in a park overlooking the Yellowstone River. Housed in the holding tanks of the old Miles City Water Treatment Plant, built in 1910 and 1924, the Art Center fills nearly 7,000 square feet of exhibit and work space. The building is listed in the National Register of Historic Places and earned a Montana Governor's Historic Preservation Award. In the heart of Big Sky country, it serves an area larger than most states. The Custer County Art Center is

EXPLORE THE ARTS

Workshops are conducted regularly at the Custer County Art Center in a variety of subjects. Classes in fibers, glass, paper, printmaking, pottery, painting, drawing, sculpture and photography are a few examples of what is offered at the Art Center. There are also lectures on various art and historical subjects and seminars for artists. School tours during exhibits and children's workshops expose the younger audience to the ideas of art and its meaning. Experienced artists and artisans, teachers, and lecturers are welcome at the Art Center to share their expertise.

EXHIBITIONS

The Art Center has two large, elegant galleries, featuring national exhibitions and works from its permanent collection. Artists are selected to fill a wide variety of mediums and styles through featured solo, group and theme exhibitions. Annual exhibits include the Southeast Montana Juried Competition, the Art Auction Exhibition and the Western Art Roundup which showcases traditional and contemporary western artists. Miniature and student shows are among other regular exhibits.

The Art Center Sales Gallery features original regional artwork, pottery, jewelry and books of western interest and the arts.
