Re: Monsanto Company/Monsanto Technology, LLC
David Runyon

Dear Mr. Terrill:

I am in receipt of your letter dated January 6, 2005 which I have shared with my client. I apologize for the delay in my response.

At this time, we would request your client's permission to enter upon and sample his 2004 soybean acreage for purposes of verifying and/or determining the presence of Monsanto's patented traits and determining plant populations.

Per an agreement between Monsanto and the Indiana Department of Agriculture, your client and/or his agent may accompany the sampling team during the inspection and sampling of your client's real property[1]; your client may have a representative from the Indiana Seed Commissioner's office accompany the sampling team during the inspection and sampling of your client's real property; and your client or his agent may take matching samples or receive split samples of any samples taken by the sampling team.

If your client is amenable to this request, please contact me so that we may schedule a mutually convenient time to perform this sampling. Moreover, if your client is interested in having a representative from the Indiana Seed Commissioner's office accompanying the sampling team, please so advise and I will coordinate with the seed commissioner's office. Please note that in advance of this sampling, it will be necessary to obtain copies of your client's 2004 FSA records, including aerial maps.

[1] Monsanto would prefer that your client or his representative accompanying the sampling team to ensure that all relevant fields are identified and sampled.

Please note that until this matter is resolved, your client is not authorized to use any seed containing Monsanto's patented biotechnology, including but not limited to the Roundup Ready®, YieldGard® or Bollgard® traits.

I look forward to hearing from you in the near future. I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Re: Monsanto Company/Monsanto Technology, LLC

Dear Mr. Mulllgardt:

I apologize for the delay in responding to your letters, as I was on vacation for over three weeks and have worked on emergency matters and my trial calendar since my return.

I now have your letters before me and have several observations and comments. First of all, you make reference to an agreement between Monsanto and the Indiana Department of Agriculture. If, in fact, such an agreement does exist, would you please provide that to me so that I can review same. My information is that it does not exist as the Democrats in Indiana did not bring that bill to a vote. However, if you have a copy of the draft, please send it to me.

We would also like to request a copy of the "Operational Manual for Sampling Procedures" before we make a determination regarding same.

In addition, before we make a determination regarding your request, after we review the "Operational Manual for Sampling Procedures", we still need to know the basis and probable cause for requesting same, as you have not yet provided us with that information and we have requested it on previous occasions. This information will have to be disclosed by you if you proceed further in the Northern District Federal Court here in Fort Wayne. As you know, we have continued to cooperate with your requests, but we do not appear to have any reciprocal cooperation on your part.

I again reiterate to you that there is no need to advise that my client is not authorized to use any brand of seed containing Monsanto patented biotechnology for the very simple reason that my client does not use it, has not used it, and does not want to use it and does not grow or harvest cotton, even though I am sure that you must be aware that it is readily available on the open market to farmers from other distributors. Can you please explain how other distributors can sell Monsanto seed to other farmers, other than being registered Monsanto dealers or distributors?

Until you are able to provide and share the information that we have requested, we are not in a position to make an evaluation and determination with regard to your request. We shall await to hear from you at your convenience.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

COPY
