Re: HB 456

when I was in fifth grade my school started a puberty-based sexual education unit that parents could have their children opt out. a lot of my friends parents decided to remove their children from class, & even 10-year old me told my friends, "How are you supposed to know what's happening to you if no one tells you?" Sexual education is an incredibly valuable resource & by depriving our children of this knowledge you are depriving them of the tools they need to succeed, & essentially setting them of for potential failure. There can be dire consequences to leaving our children ignorant to issues that affect them greatly, but how are they supposed to know if no one tells them?

Sincerely,
