What a blessing the Pact Program has been to my sister. We have witnessed a woman in her 60's, who could barely function without instruction each step of the way, becoming an independent spirit....she is now able to perform the simple tasks we all take for granted....clean her apartment (which was found for her by the Pact Program), grocery shop, laundry duties, manage her money and communicate with others. These are things she was unable to accomplish in an independent manner for 40 years. The contact with the Pact representatives on a daily basis is indeed allowing her to live her life, not just exist...and Pact's presence is continuing to teach her to develop her living and communicating skills...a process that will go on for her lifetime. If the Pact Program did not exist, she would undoubtedly and unfortunately regress and possibly be forced to be institutionalized which, I'm certain, would be much more costly. Truly, the Pact Program individuals consistently go above and beyond what is expected of them to ensure the independence and safety of our family member. She expressed many times over how happy she is to be associated with Pact! A short time after she became involved with Pact, all of our family members observed, "Oh My Gosh! What a great improvement! It's like she is a different person!"
