

Sallyann Mulcahy, Artistic Director

Sallyann Mulcahy, is the Founder and Artistic Director of Artisan Dance, Montana's professional ballet company in residence at Carroll College, the Director of Dance at Carroll College and the Artistic Director of Missouri River Dance, Great Falls' premiere youth ensemble ballet company. She is a master ballet teacher, coach and choreographer. Sallyann was born in Helena, MT, where she left at an early age to pursue a professional career in ballet. Her list of dance companies includes Canada's Royal Winnipeg Ballet, Finis Jhung's Chamber Ballet USA in New York City and the New Jersey Ballet. She has been recognized for her artistry and technical accomplishments in soloist and principal performance.

Dancers are drawn to her from around the nation for her skills as a teacher and coach of classical ballet, for respite and rehabilitation from injury caused by the fast-paced dance world and for her choreography based on a pure classical foundation inspired by the freedom and eclectic energies of contemporary dance. Sallyann's work has been influenced by some of the world's most prominent teachers and choreographers of the last century.

Sallyann's passion is to pioneer professional ballet into the great state of Montana, to collaborate in the creation of original work with other artists and to pass along the technique and integrity of world-class ballet to all who love to dance.

"Your dancers are inheriting from you a portion of that spirit that that will help to sustain them in what ever they do and more importantly what ever they become as human beings. How that has occurred is most mysterious to us mere mortals but is a part of the reason God in his infinite Wisdom has brought you here in this place for this time."
