To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing this letter in regards to the CAW program.

It was a blessing to be able to have had the opportunity to utilize the CAW program:

The only thing we had an issue with was that every time we put a request in for supplies (weighted blanket, weighted vest, trampoline, balance bike, etc) the requirements changed. These items are essential to our son and I believe every child with autism. Without a weighted blanket he would not sleep through the night, which meant we did not sleep either. Felt like a constant struggle to get what we needed big or small.

However we strongly believe that every child should have the opportunity to utilize the CAW program. Our son has greatly benefited and continues to benefit because of everything he and we have learned through therapy.

Family Outreach has done an amazing job at organizing and making sure the goals were attainable and met before going on to new goals.

We wish that the CAW program was much longer than 3 years because our son is not finished and needs much more therapy to continue in his life's journey.

We hope that you consider not only continuing the CAW program but also expanding it.

Sincerely,

Kevin and Di Koch
