

PROPERTY EXEMPT FROM EXECUTION

MCA SECTION	SOURCE
25-13-614	Earnings - The maximum part of the aggregate disposable earnings for a workweek that is subject to garnishment may not exceed the lesser of the amount by which the debtor's disposable earnings for the week exceed 30 times the federal minimum hourly wage or 25% of the debtor's disposable earnings for that week.
25-13-608	Benefits from federal social security or local public assistance legislation  Veterans' benefits  Disability or illness benefits  IRAs and Roth IRAs to the extent of the contributions made before the filing of the suit resulting in a judgment and the earnings on those contributions  Benefits paid or payable for medical, surgical or hospital care  Maintenance and child support  Payments from public employee retirement system or plan
25-13-610 (Tracing)	Proceeds from sale, loss, damage or destruction to exempt personal property are exempt for 6 months while in an account  Earnings are traceable for 45 days while in account
19-18-612	Firefighters' retirement benefits
19-19-504	Police retirement benefits
19-20-706	Teachers' retirement benefits
19-21-212	University system optional retirement program
39-51-3105	Unemployment insurance benefits

39-71-743

Workers' compensation benefits

39-73-110

Silicosis benefits

80-2-245

Hail insurance benefits

Federal

Student Assistance (loans, grants, work study)

Pension payments from ERISA plans

Railroad retirement benefits

Should money from one of these exempt payments be the source of the funds in the account, there are due process protections that allow the judgment debtor to claim and establish his/her right to an exemption from levy of the funds in the account