Part 2, I was not informed they had changed the proposed route area to include my property until they wanted to come on the property to survey, I later found out they had changed the possible route location 2-years earlier and that there had been several public meetings. I queried my neighbors and none of them recall any notifications of the route change either. I feel strongly that if we had been notified in a timely manner we could have prevented the preferred route from being chosen. Notification via certified mail could have made a big difference in the outcome. I am a firm supporter of the "Imminent Domain" concept, however a By-Pass type road should be located ~750-ft from existing residential homes to prevent loss of property value and quality of life.
