

Aging Montana Population

The chart above contains actual and forecast population statistics relative to the total population of Montana for those ages 65 and older and for those ages 85 and older. Actual and forecast data is from IHS Global Insight, an econometric firm. The vertical line corresponds to the current year, 2012.

The increasing population of older Montanans is anticipated to impact state services for older Montanans. The next few charts of the week will focus on this topic.