Montana Natural Resource Information System

Do you want to know more about our geography, water, plants or animals? Do you need maps or stream information? The Montana Natural Resource Information System (NRIS), a program of the State Library, is the place to go. Serving as Montana's "one stop shop" for natural resource information, our mission is to connect you with the data or information you need.

Assisting government agencies, businesses, and private citizens, NRIS operates an ever expanding clearing-house of natural resource data. If we don't have the data you need, we'll provide referrals to those that do.
