

Property Tax Exemption Study Commission

Session Law Citation: Chapter 160, Laws of 2003

The 2003 Legislature established the Property Tax Exemption Study Commission to conduct a study of property tax exemptions and to determine whether property tax exemptions contribute to or impede the goal of an equitable property tax system and determine whether existing property tax exemption laws should be modified or repealed in order to achieve the goal of an equitable property tax system.

The committee must submit a written report of its findings to the Governor and the Legislature by November 1, 2004, that must include options, if options are considered necessary, and proposed legislation necessary to implement any proposals.

Membership

The 10 members must include:

- two members from the House of Representatives, one from each party, appointed by the Speaker of the House;
- two members from the Senate, one from each party, appointed by the Senate Committee on Committees; and
- the following members appointed by the Governor:
 - one representative of local government;
 - one representative of K-12 public schools;
 - two representatives of property tax-exempt organizations;
 - one representative of business; and
 - one representative of the Executive Branch.
