Representative McGillvray rose on a point of personal privilege to clarify on comments made earlier by Representative Malek. He stated that he had spoken with the two representatives who had been speaking at the time and they both stated they did not feel that either had said anything implying that they were more ethical than the other. He encouraged members to check with the offended party before rising on their behalf.

HOUSE JOURNAL
FORTY-THIRD LEGISLATIVE DAY - FEBRUARY 22, 2011

Representative Malek rose on a point of personal privilege to clarify that she didn't care whether the other representative wanted someone to rise on their behalf. She simply wanted members to stop implying that they were more ethical than one another. She wished to encourage members to refrain from attacking one another's character.

Representative McGillvray rose on a point of personal privilege to state that because the comments were deemed as not implying the other was unethical, and that no complaints were made by the members involved, the comment by Representative Malek was not needed.

Representative Sesso rose on a point of personal privilege. He stated that when a member feels they were being affronted they do have the right to rise, and that the members did not need to comment on people's integrity in the body.
