Roll Call. All members present. Quorum present.

Corey Stapleton, Secretary of State of the State of Montana, extended greetings to the members on behalf of the State of Montana and delivered the following speech:

Good afternoon. Ladies and gentlemen, legislators, members of the audience. Welcome to the Montana House of Representatives. I'm Corey Stapleton, and I am so glad that you all are here. You are sitting in the most amazing, beautiful, and meaningful room in the history of our state. And if you're like me, you cannot wait to get started on your 90-day venture. Congratulations on getting here.

It's been almost twenty years since I began my service in this Capitol. I was first elected to the legislature at the turn of the century. So, before we open for business here, I would like to share with you some observations, some advice, and some encouragement.

I share with you, my top 10 list of how to succeed in the Montana legislature.

HOUSE JOURNAL
FIRST LEGISLATIVE DAY - JANUARY 7, 2019

1. Have restraint in the first five minutes of meeting another legislator. You'll be amazed at how different people can be here, yet some of your initial perceptions will not be fully accurate. If you want to dislike someone, you can, and you will. But just wait and observe a while, before you say or do something that you can't undo.
2. Have respect for cat and dog bills. For those of you who are new, cat and dog bills are those bill drafts that don't originate from existing government bureaucracy. They are ideas that don't come from the executive. They come from you. They get their name from having to fight like "Cats and Dogs" for legislative funding, since they aren't included in the starting budget. I encourage you to not summarily dismiss these types of bills in favor of funding which the bureaucracy prefers. Many good ideas come from constituents. Many good ideas come from you. That is your power, so don't be quick to give it away.
3. Don't be quick to raise taxes. That is not what Montanans want you to do. No matter where you sit in this body, if you truly look into the budget and demand operational efficiencies in state government, you will find all the revenues you need to serve your constituents.
4. Bring statutory spending into House Bill 2. It is good government, great government, when spending taxpayer money is reviewed by the legislature every two years. There is an enormous amount of spending in state government that bypasses your review. Look for opportunities to bring those statutory appropriations under the same daylight and scrutiny that you give to appropriations in the budget.
5. Friendships are the cartilage of the legislative body. Make some friendships with your opponents. The legislative body can and will function without those friendships, but it is like bone on bone, it's not as efficient, it wears you out, and it hurts more. Friendships are the cartilage of the legislative body.
6. Read (and proofread) your Bills. It becomes tempting to take shortcuts during the session, and not schedule daily personal time to read legislation that you're voting on. Not that I would know anything about proofreading or not catching mistakes in print. I remember the time we had to call all 150 legislators back into a special session, because none of us, including all the legislative staff and lobbyists, failed to proofread a single piece of legislation. We had omitted an effective date on a bill. We all had to come back into a special legislative session to add an effective date. Read your bills.
7. Super majorities are good for some things. You all are the keepers of this House. There were many before you, there will be many after. In the short term, you may not like that it takes super majorities to spend the coal trust tax money, to spend bonding money, to blast motions to the floor, to suspend legislative rules. I will tell you, that political pendulums always swing back and that requiring super majority votes provides an important braking mechanism in the legislative process. Think big picture. Protect this institution.
8. Take care of your body. When I was in the legislature, I had two sets of wardrobes. One that I wore most of the time, and another that I wore the last two months of the legislature. Try and get some daily exercise, reduce your food portions and eat healthy.

HOUSE JOURNAL
FIRST LEGISLATIVE DAY - JANUARY 7, 2019

9. There is no truth here. Many of you are highly principled people, but if you want truth, you should look to your own personal faith for guidance, not politics. The legislature is a man-made institution. There is no truth in Helena, only versions of it.

10. Nothing is ever as good as it seems, and nothing is ever as bad as it seems. You will have days here of extreme mood swings. When your bill dies, when the media misrepresents you, you might feel like crawling in a hole. Don't. When you're winning, and your side has the votes, and the media praises you on the front page, you'll be tempted to think your victory is monumental and permanent. Don't. Remember that you are too close to the action to objectively see that everything good or bad tends to get magnified when you're a legislator. Try to stay grounded. I'd like to tell you a story. It illustrates some of these points.

It's from a number of years ago. The legislative session in 2003 was a year when we didn't have enough money. I think there was $150 million shortfall at the outset of the session. Needless to say, there was a lot of friction between Republicans and Democrats over what programs to cut, etc. All bills outside the budget that cost money were getting killed. Republicans controlled the House, Senate and the 2nd floor. I was the Senate Majority Whip. It was called the Baled Tire bill of 2003.

Sometimes while you're on the doors campaigning, you can get caught committing to something you probably shouldn't. My colleague, Jim Elliott, the Senator from Trout Creek, had such a bill. It was intended to solve a local issue problem and in the process, from public comment through the Floor debates, the bill reminded each of the Legislators of the nature of some of the bills that we are requested to carry for our constituents. Sometimes we can find ourselves unified on the process and in that find what makes us more alike than different.

We kept the bill alive because it kept us more alive. This bill began to take on a life of its own, and in the end, Governor Martz signed the Baled Tire bill into law. I don't know if this bill ever did what it was intended or if the constituents ever found peace. But I do know that the Baled Tire bill taught me that this legislature can be an incredible place.

1. In a really tense and stressful legislative session, there is value in keeping a sense of humor and being on the look-out for bills that can unify the spirit of what it means to be a Montanan.

2. You can find joy and satisfaction in this process without spending any money sometimes, simply by solving problems for people.

3. Most of all, the Baled Tire bill reminded me of the important role of friendships here. Even if you don't vote the same way, you get to choose in the coming minutes, days, weeks, how you treat each other. If you learn to have some restraint and respect, you might find yourselves in a situation like we found ourselves sixteen years ago, solving an unlikely feud between the Hatfields and McCoys, and laughing so hard we were crying during the floor debate. Friendships become the cartilage of the legislative body. This session, if and when you find yourself in the middle of a House debate where you're solving problems, and laughing as one, you too, will know that magic that you hoped for when you first considered running for office. You will know, that like those who served before you, this incredible and beautiful House of Representatives is one of the greatest callings you will ever know. Be excellent to each other.

HOUSE JOURNAL
FIRST LEGISLATIVE DAY - JANUARY 7, 2019

I wish you all the very best, in the coming months. As your Secretary of State, my door is always open. Like all Montanans, our office will be cheering you on and hoping you do us all proud! Thank you, may God bless you, and may God bless the United States of America.

SPECIAL ORDERS OF THE DAY

Secretary of State Stapleton introduced the Honorable Jim Rice, Justice of the Supreme Court of Montana. Representatives Doane and Dudik escorted Justice Rice into the chamber.

Justice Rice administered the following oath of office:

"I do solemnly swear that I will support, protect, and defend the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Montana, and that I will discharge the duties of my office as a Montana State Representative with fidelity, so help me God."

Secretary of State Stapleton thanked Justice Rice and asked the members of the House of Representatives to sign the of the oath of office. These were presented to Justice Rice for his acknowledgment and then filed in the Secretary of State's Office.

Secretary of State Stapleton called for nominations for Office of the Speaker of the House. Representative Tschida nominated Representative Greg Hertz. Representative Schreiner moved that the nominations be closed. Motion carried.

Secretary of State Stapleton declared that Representative Greg Hertz was hereby duly elected Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 66th Legislature. Former Representative Adam Hertz escorted Speaker Greg Hertz to the rostrum.

Speaker Greg Hertz thanked Secretary Stapleton and Justice Rice on behalf of the House. Representatives Bachmeier and McKamey escorted Secretary of State Stapleton and Justice Rice from the House Chambers.

Speaker Hertz addressed the House:

Distinguished Guests, Legislative colleagues, Family and Friends, People of Montana.

Welcome to the first day of the 66th Legislative session.

Before I continue, I'd like to take a moment to thank some very special people, without whom my service to Montana would not have been possible: FAMILY

To the members of the 2019 Legislative session - thank you for the honor and privilege of allowing me to serve as your Speaker.

Congratulations also to members of this honorable House, and I thank each of you for sacrificing your time, talents and treasure to serve your community and our state. I also extend my gratitude to your families, who share in the sacrifice of your service.

HOUSE JOURNAL
FIRST LEGISLATIVE DAY - JANUARY 7, 2019

It is no small matter to give up your loved one for a long campaign season, followed by a 4-month legislative session. The work we will do here could not be done without your love, support and encouragement. You each have my heartfelt gratitude.

For 3 sessions, I have walked into the Capitol, and House Chamber, and I'm constantly struck by the legacy we are a part of. For 130 years, men and women have gathered here with the trust of the public to enact laws and budgets designed to constitutionally serve the public benefit. Amid successes and failures, the process works because of the genius of the Founders, who built the Foundations upon which we stand. I now carry the awesome responsibility as your Speaker and I ask for your support and prayers as I guide this group to a successful conclusion.

On your desk, every legislator will find a pin specially produced and designed to memorialize your participation in the 66th Legislature. There are only 100 of these pins; one for each member of this body. I'm certain you'll cherish this pin as a memento of your service to Montana.

Before I close, one important housekeeping detail: the rules under which we operate in the House call for civility, courtesy and professionalism. That must occur both within and outside these walls. Treat all your fellow representatives, House Staff and Capitol employees with the kindness and respect they deserve.

In conclusion, this session will be a fast-paced, quick-moving 4 months. You'll make lifetime friendships, not possible in any other environment in Montana. Cherish your time here, enjoy the experiences and have some fun along the way. It is a snapshot of the beauty and grandeur of the Treasure State.

Thank you again for your trust and support and I look forward to a unified and successful 66th session.
