 5 which the decedent, at the time of or immediately before death, was alone empowered, by law or under the 6 governing instrument, to cancel the designation in favor of the abuser or killer, whether or not the decedent was 7 then empowered to designate the decedent in place of the decedent's abuser or killer and whether or not the 8 decedent then had capacity to exercise the power.

9            (f) "Vulnerable adult" means a person who is:

10            (i) 60 years of age or older and is functionally, mentally, or physically unable to provide self-care;

 18 benefits under this chapter with respect to the decedent's estate, including an intestate share, an elective share, 19 an omitted spouse's or child's share, a homestead allowance, exempt property, and a family allowance. If the 20 decedent died intestate, the decedent's intestate estate passes as if the abuser or killer disclaimed the abuser's 21 or killer's intestate share.

22            (3) The financial exploitation or felonious and intentional killing of the decedent:

23            (a) revokes any revocable:

4 (4) A severance under subsection (3)(b) does not affect any third-party interest in property acquired for 5 value and in good faith reliance on an apparent title by survivorship in the abuser or killer unless a writing
6 declaring the severance has been noted, registered, filed, or recorded in records that are appropriate to the kind
7 and location of the property, ~~which records and that are relied upon, on as evidence of ownership~~ in the ordinary 8 course of transactions involving such property, ~~as evidence of ownership~~.

11 abuser or killer predeceased the decedent.

12 (6) A wrongful acquisition of property or interest by ~~a~~ an abuser or killer not covered by this section must 13 be treated in accordance with the principle that ~~a~~ an abuser or killer cannot profit from the abuser's or killer's 14 wrong.

15 (7) After all right to appeal has been exhausted, a judgment of conviction establishing criminal 16 accountability for the financial exploitation or felonious and intentional killing of the decedent conclusively
17 establishes the convicted individual as the decedent's abuser or killer for purposes of this section. In the absence 18 of a conviction, the court, upon the petition of an interested person, shall determine whether, under the 19 preponderance of evidence standard, the individual would be found criminally accountable for the financial 20 exploitation or felonious and intentional killing of the decedent. If the court determines that under that standard 21 the individual would be found criminally accountable for the financial exploitation or felonious and intentional

26 exploitation or an intentional and felonious killing, or for having taken any other action in good faith reliance on 27 the validity of the governing instrument, upon request and satisfactory proof of the decedent's death, before the 28 payor or other third party received written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation under this section. A payor 29 or other third party does not have a duty or obligation to make any determination as to whether the decedent was 30 a victim of a homicide or to seek any evidence with respect to a homicide even if the circumstances of the

1 decedent's death are suspicious or questionable as to the beneficiary's participation in a homicide. A payor or 2 other third party does not have a duty or obligation to make any determination as to whether the decedent was 3 a victim of financial exploitation or to seek any evidence with respect to financial exploitation even if the 4 circumstances are suspicious or questionable as to the beneficiary's participation in financial exploitation. A payor
5 or other third party is only liable for actions taken 2 or more business days after the actual receipt by the payor
6 or other third party of written notice. The payor or other third party may be liable for actions taken pursuant to the

9 interest, the nature of the payment or item of property or other benefit, and a statement that a claim of forfeiture
10 or revocation is being made under this section. Written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation under 11 subsection (8)(a) must be mailed to the payor's or other third party's main office or home by certified mail, return 12 receipt requested, or served ~~upon~~ on the payor or other third party in the same manner as a summons in a civil 13 action. Notice to a sales representative of the payor or other third party does not constitute notice to the payor
14 or other third party. Upon receipt of written notice of a claimed forfeiture or revocation under this section, a payor 15 or other third party may pay any amount owed or transfer or deposit any item of property held by it to or with the 16 court having jurisdiction of the probate proceedings relating to the decedent's estate or, if no proceedings have 17 been commenced, to or with the court having jurisdiction of probate proceedings relating to decedents' estates
18 located in the county of the decedent's residence. In addition to the actions available under this section, the payor
19 or other third party may take any action authorized by law or the governing instrument. If probate proceedings
20 have not been commenced, the payor or other third party shall file with the court a copy of the written notice
21 received by the payor or other third party, with the payment of funds or transfer or deposit of property. The court 22 may not charge a filing fee to the payor or other third party for the payment to the court of amounts owed or 23 transferred to or deposited with the court or any item of property. The court shall hold the funds or item of property
24 and, upon its determination under this section, shall order disbursement in accordance with the determination.
25 A filing fee, if any, may be charged upon disbursement either to the recipient or against the funds or property on 26 deposit with the court, in the discretion of the court. Payments, transfers, or deposits made to or with the court
27 discharge the payor or other third party from all claims for the value of amounts paid to or items of property
28 transferred to or deposited with the court.

29 (9) (a) A bona fide purchaser who purchases property or who receives a payment or other item of 30 property in partial or full satisfaction of a legally enforceable obligation is neither obligated under this section to

1 return the payment, item of property, or benefit nor liable under this section for the amount of the payment or the 2 value of the item of property or benefit. However, a person who, not for value, receives a payment, item of 3 property, or other benefit to which the person is not entitled under this section is obligated to return the payment,
4 item of property, or benefit, or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of 5 property or benefit, to the person who is entitled to it under this section.

6 (b) If this section or any part of this section is preempted by federal law, other than the federal Employee
7 Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended, with respect to a payment, an item of property, or any 8 other benefit covered by this section, a person who, not for value, receives the payment, item of property, or other 9 benefit to which the person is not entitled under this section is obligated to return the payment, item of property,
10 or benefit, or is personally liable for the amount of the payment or the value of the item of property or benefit, to 11 the person who would have been entitled to it were this section or part of this section not preempted.

12 (10) For the purposes of this section, a felonious and intentional killing includes a deliberate homicide 13 as defined in 45-5-102 and a mitigated deliberate homicide as defined in 45-5-103."
