Background Materials and Research

Topic Summary: In every session, legislators introduce bills to provide special free or discounted licenses to certain persons. In 2013, the Legislature passed House Bill 609, requesting an interim study of Montana’s hunting and fishing license statutes and fees, including an assessment of the impact of free and reduced-cost licenses on fish and wildlife management funding and whether any of these licenses should be modified.

The 2013-2014 Environmental Quality Council (EQC) conducted the study in conjunction with the Fish and Wildlife Licensing and Funding Advisory Council (LFAC) appointed by the Department of Fish, Wildlife, and Parks at the request of the governor. Ultimately, the LFAC recommended that fees for youth, senior, disabled, and nonresident free and discounted licenses be standardized at 50% of the equivalent, full-priced license.

The EQC agreed and found that “the piecemeal approach of modifying Montana’s fishing and hunting licenses to provide free or discounted licenses to certain citizens erodes and complicates the licensing system as a whole and should be stopped.” The EQC drafted House Bill 140, enacted by the 2015 Legislature, which overhauled hunting and fishing license prices and standardized discounts provided to youth, seniors, the disabled, and certain nonresidents at 50% of the full-priced fee. While Senate Bill 2019, enacted by the 2017 Legislature, tweaked some of the changes made by House Bill 140, the new standard of half-priced fees for discounted licenses continued.
