Background Materials and Research

Topic Summary: Article VIII, section 5, of the Montana Constitution establishes the right of the Legislature to exempt certain property from property taxation. Property tax exemptions for charitable, religious, and educational organizations have existed since the 19th century. Federal tax exemption under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, though required by some states as a necessary condition to receive a property tax exemption, is often not the sole factor for determining whether to grant an exemption.

Section 15-6-201 is the section of law that provides for exemptions for governmental, charitable, educational, and religious purposes. These exemptions are generally based on both the ownership and use of the property. Title 15, chapter 6, part 2, includes exemptions for certain other property such as irrigation property, certain kinds of equipment, personal property, and tribal property.

House Bill 389, enacted in 2015, required owners of certain types of exempt property to reapply for the exemption and for the Department of Revenue to review the exemptions. The legislation also required DOR to list tax-exempt real property on its website.
