INTERIM WORK PLAN

INTRODUCTION AND OVERVIEW

The Children, Families, Health, and Human Services Interim Committee (Committee) is one of several interim committees established in law and required to meet in between legislative sessions. State law requires the interim committees to:

- conduct interim studies as assigned;
- propose bills and resolutions that committee members believe should be presented to the next Legislature; and
- review administrative rules, programs, and legislation for agencies within each committee's jurisdiction. The Children and Families Committee is responsible under state law for monitoring the activities of the Department of Public Health and Human Services (DPHHS), the largest agency in state government.

This interim, the Legislative Council assigned the following studies to the Committee:

- Senate Joint Resolution 14, for a study of the publicly funded mental health system for adults;
- House Joint Resolution 35, for a study of the children's mental health system;
- House Joint Resolution 39, for a study of the involuntary commitment and placement of people with Alzheimer's disease or other dementias;
- House Joint Resolution 44, for a study of the foster care system; and
- House Joint Resolution 45, for a study of the factors that trigger the removal of children from their homes and the reunification of families after removal.

The Committee work plan serves as a blueprint for Committee members, staff, and the public.

In addition, the Legislature passed House Bill 39, which requires the Committee to hear a report by September 2021 on the results of two district court pilot projects involving child abuse and neglect cases. If the committee considers the results promising, it must create a work group to continue reviewing the effort and to make recommendations on how the approaches could be implemented statewide.

This work plans details the Committee's study and agency oversight duties for the interim, which effectively runs from June 2021 through September 15, 2022. It includes:

- the committee's decisions on the level of involvement it will have in its various responsibilities, including a table summarizing the decisions on Page 9;
- a schedule of planned meeting dates for the rest of the interim, on Page 9;
- a schedule of planned activities for each meeting, in Appendix B on Page 13; and
- the study tasks and anticipated timelines for each of the Committee's studies, in Appendix C beginning on Page 17.

ASSIGNED STUDIES

The 2021 Legislature approved 28 interim study resolutions, and the Legislative Council assigned those study requests to the various interim committees on May 24. Following is a description of each study resolution assigned to the Children and Families Committee, in order of each study's ranking in the post-session poll of legislators.

- Senate Joint Resolution 14, which ranked fourth in the post-session poll, calls for a study of the state's publicly funded mental health system, with particular attention to reviewing the ways in which it has changed in recent years and identifying any gaps in the system.
- House Joint Resolution 45, which ranked 10th, calls for a study of the factors that trigger both a child's removal from the home in suspected cases of abuse or neglect and the reunification of families after removal. Among other things, the study is to look at how court expectations and the availability of quality foster parents and effective legal representation may affect case outcomes and at how the federal Family First Prevention Services Act and Indian Child Welfare Act may affect removals and reunifications.

A study typically involves information gathering, issue identification, and recommendations.

- House Joint Resolution 44, which ranked 11th, requests a study of the state's foster care system. The study is to look at requirements for and barriers to becoming a foster parent, the legal standing and rights of foster parents, foster care funding sources, and foster care matters related to adoption and to the Indian Child Welfare Act.

- House Joint Resolution 35, which ranked 12th, calls for a review of the children's mental health system, with a focus on the use of out-of-state facilities for treatment of some children.

- House Joint Resolution 39, which ranked 17th, calls for a study of the use of involuntary commitments for people with Alzheimer's disease or other dementias and alternatives to placing those individuals at the Montana State Hospital.

Statutorily Required Study

The 2021 Legislature also passed House Bill 39, which requires the Committee to review the preliminary results of district court pilot projects designed to improve outcomes in child abuse and neglect cases. The pilot projects involve:

- earlier show-cause hearings; and
- facilitated prehearing conferences that bring parents, attorneys, and DPHHS together before the first hearing in a case so they can discuss placement, visitation, and treatment options.

If the Committee determines that the pilot project results appear promising, the presiding officer must appoint a working group to look into how the approaches could be implemented more widely. The working group -- which must include at least two Committee members -- would make recommendations to the Committee for potential legislation in the 2023 legislative session.

Anatomy of a Study

In general, an interim study follows a basic pattern as shown below.

The first phase of the study is carried out over the first few meetings of the interim, when the Committee:

- reviews staff research papers and other informational materials on study topics;
- hears presentations by people with experience and expertise on the study topics; and
- takes public comment from interested parties, who may offer specific study-related suggestions.

In the second phase, the Committee spends a meeting or two narrowing the focus of the study. Members identify topics or questions they'd like to analyze further. This phase helps members concentrate on the issues they consider to be of the greatest importance and obtain any additional information needed to make final recommendations.

During the final stage, members review and decide on options for action. Potential solutions, including legislation, are usually reviewed and refined at multiple meetings before the Committee takes final action.

Committee Decision: Approach to Study Assignments

The amount of time that can be devoted to a study is primarily influenced by the amount of Committee time available and the Committee's level of interest in the study. The Committee considered the four approaches outlined on Page 11 for its study assignments, ranging from no action at all to significant Committee involvement.

The Committee's six study assignments fell broadly under two general topics – mental health and child protective services. Committee members decided to split their time nearly evenly between those topics, allocating about 45% of their meeting time to the mental health studies and 38% of their time to the CPS studies.

Committee members chose to have significant involvement in the SJR 14 study of the adult mental health system, noting the large amount of public comment they received about the challenges facing that system. They decided on moderate involvement in the HJR 35 study of the children's mental health study and minimal involvement in the HJR 39 study of involuntary commitments.

Members chose moderate involvement in the two CPS-related studies, which will look at the foster care system and at the factors that trigger a child's removal from the home and family reunification after the removal. They also agreed to reserve 6 hours for the HB 39 study of judicial pilot projects, in case information received in September shows the results are promising and leads to appointment of a working group.

The table on Page 9 shows the amount of meeting time the Committee allocated to each study. Appendix C, beginning on Page 17, shows which of the study tasks from each study resolution will be undertaken and which were eliminated or scaled back.

AGENCY OVERSIGHT

The Department of Public Health and Human Services has nearly 3,000 employees throughout the state and is responsible for providing both public health services to all Montanans and a wide array of assistance to vulnerable Montanans, including children and the elderly, needy, disabled, abused, neglected, and mentally ill. It also operates the following facilities:

- the Intensive Behavior Center in Boulder, a secure, 12-bed facility for seriously developmentally disabled individuals who are committed to the facility by a court;
- the Montana State Hospital at Warm Springs and its Forensic Mental Health Facility at Galen, for adults with mental illness who have been committed for treatment by a court because they pose a danger to themselves or others or have been charged with or convicted of a crime;
- the Montana Chemical Dependency Center in Butte, an inpatient treatment center for adults diagnosed as having an addiction to drugs or alcohol or who suffer co-occurring addiction and mental illness;
- the Mental Health Nursing Care Center in Lewistown, a long-term care facility for people who have a mental disorder, require a level of care that isn't available in the community, and can't benefit from treatment at the State Hospital; and
- the Eastern Montana Veterans' Home in Glendive, the Montana Veterans' Home in Columbia Falls, and the just-opened Southwest Montana Veterans' Home in Butte. The facilities are open to veterans and spouses who need skilled nursing care or suffer from Alzheimer's disease.

Agency Oversight Duties

State law sets out several agency oversight duties for interim committees. Each responsibility is outlined below.

Administrative Rule Review

Interim committees are required to review administrative rule proposals of the agencies for which they have oversight responsibility. The Committee's legal staff reviews DPHHS rulemaking notices and provides regular updates, noting any rules that may be out of compliance with the Montana Administrative Procedure Act (MAPA). That law allows interim committees to, among other things:

- obtain an agency's rulemaking records to review them for compliance;
- submit written recommendations on adopting, amending, or rejecting a rule;
- require that a rulemaking hearing be held;
- require an economic impact statement relating to a rule adoption; and
- poll the Legislature by mail to determine if a proposed rule is consistent with legislative intent.

Interim committees also may delay the adoption of proposed rules by objecting to proposals that members believe do not comply with the provisions of MAPA. Senate Bill 82, passed in 2021, allows the speaker of the House and the Senate president to break a tie vote on any rule objection being considered by an interim committee.

Program Monitoring

The committee also is required to monitor DPHHS operations with specific attention to:

- issues likely to require future legislative action;
- opportunities for improving the laws governing the agency's operation and programs; and
- experiences that Montanans have had with the agency that may be improved through legislative action.

HB 142 Review

In 2011, the Legislature approved HB 142, requiring interim committees to review the statutorily created advisory councils and required reports related to the agencies they oversee, to see if the councils or reports should be revised or repealed. The law was modified in 2017 to require a review only if requested by any committee member.

Review of Draft Legislation

The interim committee process allows for an early review of agency-requested legislation. Interim committees typically authorize the drafting of many state agency bills in advance of the November election. This process frees up time for the Legislative Services Division staff to concentrate on legislator bill draft requests after the election. Agency bills drafted as a result of this process must be introduced before the 2021 legislative session begins.

Required Reports

DPHHS and other entities are required by law to present a number of reports to the Committee, as listed in the table below. Newly required reports include, in parentheses, the 2021 legislation that created the reporting requirement.

Report	Frequency
Child and Family Ombudsman Activities and Recommendations	Annually

Medical Marijuana Reports

In 2011, the Legislature created a statutory requirement for the Committee to monitor the medical marijuana program operated by DPHHS by receiving reports on provider, cardholder, and physician statistics and activities. The monitoring requirement was expanded over the years to include reports on inspections of medical marijuana providers, the seed-to-sale tracking system, and other issues related to the program.

In 2021, lawmakers passed HB 701 to revise the recreational marijuana program that was approved by voters in 2020. HB 701 also consolidated administration of the medical and recreational marijuana programs under the Department of Revenue and transferred legislative oversight to the Economic Affairs Interim Committee. However, that change in oversight responsibility won't occur until January 2022.

Medicaid Waiver Review

DPHHS sometimes undertakes Medicaid research and demonstration projects that require waivers of federal Medicaid law. Under 52-2-215, MCA, the agency must present proposals for these types of waivers to the Committee "for review and comment at a public hearing" before submitting the application to the federal government. The agency also must present final, approved waivers to the Committee.

DPHHS will seek a waiver this year to carry out the governor's Healing and Ending Addiction through Recovery and Treatment (HEART) behavioral health initiative. Federal action is also pending on the state's waiver request to continue the Medicaid expansion program and implement the work requirements approved by the 2019 Legislature.

Ballot Initiative Review

The 2021 Legislature passed House Bill 651, which requires each interim committee to review and decide whether to place language in the initiative's signature-gathering petition that indicates whether the committee supports or opposes putting the measure on the ballot. The committee must conduct the review and make its decision within 14 days of receiving the final text of the proposed initiative and the ballot statements that have been approved by the attorney general. This new requirement may result in additional committee meetings to meet the 14-day timeline. HB 651 specifically allows committees to meet by electronic means to conduct the review.

Other Interim Monitoring

Interim committees also may take up other matters related to the agencies and topic areas they oversee. The Committee may request regular updates on DPHHS programs and activities, request information on implementation of newly passed legislation, or review other health and human services topics as the need arises.

Other Potential Activities

House Bill 497 created several interim budget committees. The DPHHS-related interim budget committee invited the committee to meet jointly with that committee during its quarterly meetings.

Committee Decisions: Agency Oversight

The Committee plans to generally have a moderate level of involvement in most of its agency oversight duties. Members made the following decisions specific to monitoring activities.

- Administrative Rule Review: The Committee will have a moderate level of involvement, with members receiving regular written summaries of proposed and adopted administrative rules in between their meetings and focusing their attention during meetings only on rules of concern.
- HB 142 Review: The Committee will have a minimal level of involvement in this task, with members receiving the statutorily required reports in their meeting packets throughout the interim. Members also will review, on their own, a list of statutorily required advisory councils to decide if they'd like to review any council in more depth during a meeting.
- Review of Draft Legislation: The Committee will have minimal involvement in this task, scheduling time at its final meeting to review proposed agency legislation for authorization of early drafting.
- Medical Marijuana Reports: The Committee decided to ask the Economic Affairs Interim Committee to immediately take over further review of required reports, rather than waiting until January 1 as scheduled under HB 701.
- Medicaid Waiver Review: The Committee decided to hold a videoconference meeting in August to review the waiver application for the HEART initiative, rather than holding a full-day meeting in person.
- Other Agency Monitoring: The Committee decided to have a moderate level of involvement in other agency monitoring duties, including regular updates from DPHHS on general agency activities.
- Interim Committee Coordination: The Committee will hold its March 2022 meeting during the same week as the interim budget committee that monitors the DPHHS budget. Members also agreed to foster interim committee coordination by:
 - having interested members attend the budget committee meetings via electronic means; and
 - hearing regular reports from the two Committee members who also serve on the interim budget committee for DPHHS and also hearing updates on activities of the Law and Justice Interim Committee (LJIC) from a member who also serves on that committee, when the LJIC activities overlap with the topic areas under the Committee's jurisdiction.
