Thank you for sending this in. Since it came in after the cutoff for the November meeting, it will be added to the next meeting's public comments, however you are welcome to address it during your verbal comments today.

You don't often get email from taylnlang@gmail.com. Learn why this is important

Hi, Erin. I have just one more thing to add to what I already sent you. It is a survey question I posted on the Montana Cannabis Industry Compliance page on Facebook. While not scientific, it does illustrate the fact that 100% of respondents felt that the inspection process is draconian, unfair, unequally applied, and doesn't serve the purpose of getting licensees into compliance.

Erin, I am attaching a letter and some links to documents I refer to in this letter to provide information to the EAIC in regard to the CCD's management of the inspection and fining process in Montana as compared to CA, CO, WA, and OR. I am hoping to be in Helena tomorrow to present this letter and information in person, but should I not be able to make it I have requested remote access to the committee to present this information.

Thank you for your help.

I am putting out a poll today to cannabis licensees in our great State. What do you think the state of our inspection/discrepancy/fine status is, and how do you think it compares to the rest of our Western State peers? Follow up, what do you think the State collected in fines last year?

Our inspection process is draconian, unfair, unequally applied, and doesn't serve the purpose of helping licensees get into compliance. 100% >

Our inspection process is fair, equally applied, and fines are pretty comperable with the rest of our peer Western States. 0% >

Our inspection process is quite easy, loosely applied, and fines are way less robust that they are in our peer Western States. 0% >

Hey, Blu, let's put that in the comments so that the survey is intact.
