Subject: [EXTERNAL] Charles Krug house testimony

The Charles Krug House is an important feature in the landscape and history of Glendive. Charles Krug arrived in Glendive from Ohio in 1878, working as a railroader and building his ranch. Through perseverance and integrity, he eventually became one of the most important figures in the area as a prominent rancher and President of Merchants National Bank. The Charles Krug House stands as a representation of the rich history and opportunity available in Eastern Montana. Its grand construction and details serve as a reminder of days past. It is our hope and wish to preserve to integrity of the property for ours and future generations.
